

TRANSLATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL DOCUMENTS

Generally, environmentalists try to promote agricultural aspects, they support knowledge and want to inform farmers and other people in rural areas about environmental aspects. In addition, they want to raise awareness of environmental issues.

To properly communicate the ideas found in your environmental document, it is important to use specific terminology related to this field. It is, thus, recommended to use the services of a professional translator.

At ELC Professional Center, we are able to assist you in translating the following types of documents:

- Environmental documents,
- Brochures,
- Case studies,
- Advertisements,
- Instructions, technical files, safety notices,
- Project specifications,
- etc.

Do not forget, the environment is everyone's business, but translation is the business of specialists. Therefore, use the services of a professional.
