

TRANSLATION OF REAL ESTATE DOCUMENTS

Today, translating real estate documents has become a huge challenge for companies, it is even more difficult for the translator: the latter must accurately translate the technical terms, all while adapting them to the local culture.

Competition is fierce in terms of real estate transactions, the speed and quality of the translation of information and real estate contracts are crucial.

A real estate agent performs various activities and they all have different faces, and so the documents that they use should also reflect this. Promotional texts, marketing campaigns, advertisements, or the more economic and legal texts necessary for sales must be translated by a professional in each field.

How does one translate sales contracts in accordance with the local legislation in force, all while taking into consideration the details of the transaction? Also, the translated document must have the same official value as its original.

Our team of translators are natives in their respective languages. They are all specialists in real estate, and can translate the following types of documents:

- Rental agreements,
- Deposit certificates,
- Reports,
- Document regarding the state of things,
- Lease,
- Book of specifications,
- Rent receipt,
- Commercial lease.