

TRANSLATION IN THE FIELD OF COMPUTER SCIENCES

In this field, we do not speak about translation, we speak about "localization". As Computers constantly evolve, the request for localization increases.

Do you need to translate some software or a document related to computers? We can help.

All support media must be properly translated, the glossary of the user interface must also comply with the standards of this field. In addition, the explanations about the documentation must be clear and understandable.

At ELC Professional Center, we are capable of translating all kinds of documents and medias:

- Translation of a user interface in a software program,
- Translation of computer aids (online aids),
- Translation of mobile applications,
- Translation of software and documentation,
- Translation of Websites,
- IT Press kits.

There are many benefits to using our services, such as a specialized professional team in the computer field that knows well the terminology.
