

TRANSLATION OF MARKETING DOCUMENTS

When translating marketing and communication documents, knowledge of your consumer and vocabulary used is essential. In order to properly translate a document, the translator must know what the meaning in terms of the message is and must be able to transmit the same message in the desired language.

With their vast professional experience, our translators are specialists when it comes to translating marketing documents. They are aware of the terminology, concepts, play on words, slogans and signatures used in this field. Furthermore, these professionals know the linguistic and cultural aspects required to transmit your message to your targeted public.

In order to reproduce your text, a translation in marketing implies developing new content that is convincing and inviting. Do not forget, this is the document your clients will get.

At ELC Professional Center, we are able to translate a multitude of types of documents in the marketing and communication fields, such as:

- Press releases,
- Press kits,
- Brochures,
- Catalogs,
- Mailings,
- Newsletters,
- Company newsletters,
- Marketing campaigns,
- Website content,
- Websites
- Advertising slogans,
- Market studies.

This is what we offer:

- Translations of professional quality,
- Review and verification of documents by a translator in their mother tongue,
- Reactivity,
- Adaptation to your needs,
- Capable of translation all types of documents or Websites, and insure page layout.